

We say 'We understand' and the judges have agreed!

At the recent South West HIA Housing Awards, The Rural Building Company came away with yet another Gold Key Award - the third in three years! An incredible achievement and testimony to the impact that The Rural Building Company has had on new home design and innovation throughout the state.

But it's not just the awards that inspire us; it's the growing number of homes that we are building and the enthusiastic market acceptance of our difference.

We based our business on a philosophy of being different. Having a different attitude to design and a total disregard to what other builders are doing, using different materials, and above all, on having an overall attitude that is unconventional. We cater to those people who appreciate, and have, a different sense of values; people who are adventurous, romantic and very individual.

To fully understand you must experience one of The Rural Building Company homes that are on display or explore our website www.ruralbuilding.com.au.
