BUILDING EXPERIENCE IS KEY IN BRIDGETOWN

WA Country Builders & the Rural Building Company's local New Homes Consultant, Beryl Thompson continues to service Bridgetown and surrounding areas. Bringing a wealth of knowledge, with over 30 years of building experience across the region.

Beryl Thompson has played a significant role in growing WA Country Builders & the Rural Building Company in Bridgetown. With Beryl establishing the Bridgetown office with her late husband, Lawry Thompson in 1995.

Beryl reflects on the longevity of WA Country Builders & the Rural Building Company in the region. "The office is a testimony to the brands commitment to the region. Being the only builder with a shop front in town for over 25 years, says Mrs Thompson."

Beryl brings years of knowledge of home building for the area, from complex site assessment to custom design. With Beryl priding herself on site orientation. "Ensuring the proposed home design sits well on the block, to take full advantage of the countryside elevation that Bridgetown and surrounding towns & countryside offer, says Mrs Thompson."

She has a true passion for home building, especially in the design space. As she assisted in the creation of foundational Rural Building Company designs, such as the Forest View & Valley View.

"I recognised the opportunity that was available in the town and surrounding suburbs. The Rural Building Company designs, particularly the views range were the ideal fit for the town's landscape, says Mrs Thompson".

Beryl is a true advocate for the town and all that it offers. Beryl and her family have lived in Bridgetown for over 40 years, with two of her three children still living in the area.

The local, family affair continues into the office with Beryl's sister, Tina Watts working alongside Beryl in an administration position. Beryl's nephew 'in-law' and group sales manager, Kurt Mentlein also resides in the local office.

WA Country Builders & the Rural Building Company are the largest builder in the South West region with more than 30 years' experience, providing the best local advice, the widest choice of home designs and building materials, great value and award-winning customer service.
